South-Carolina GAZETTE.

From THURSDAY June 5th, to THURSDAY June 12th, 1755.

LONDON, March 1.

THE right hon. the lords of the admiralty have ordered six men of war of the fifth and sixth rates to be got ready with all expedition.

The lords of the admiralty have appointed Capt. Parry commander of the Kingston man of war, of 60 guns, at Chatham.

Capt. Michael Everitt is appointed commander of the Buckingham man of war at Chatham.

Capt. Francis Gaine is made commander of the Hound sloop of 12 guns and 100 men, fitting out with the utmost expedition at Woolwich; where the shipwrights are labouring with great assiduity to finish the Royal Anne, a first rate man of war.

The Winchester is commissioned, and the command given to Capt. Le Cras, Commodore Broderick being to go on board her to relieve Commodore Coates, now in the West-Indies.

We are assured that there are upwards of 20,000 able sailors on board the men of war already commissioned, and that near half of them are volunteers.

London, March 4. The news of the margrave of Bareith's changing his religion, which has been rumoured for some time in Holland, and in Germany, gains credit in the capital of Saxony. That prince, say the politicians of Dresden, has long had views on the throne of Poland. It is not therefore surprizing, that he should think before-hand of opening his way by embracing the Romish religion. This is the language of several of the principal families of that country.

Orders arrived at Chatham last friday to make ready eight seventy-gun ships in that harbour, which have not yet been mentioned. Artificers are expected from Deptford and Woolwich yards to assist there. Every thing goes on with the greatest expediton. The ships under repair have been turned out of the docks several yards, have received fresh orders to expedite the ships ordered to sea.

The term, for which the bounty was offered to seamen who should enter themselves on board his majesty's ships of war, having expired on Monday, a new proclamation was issued on Tuesday, for continuing the bounties of 3 l. and 40 s. till the last day of this month; for granting to seamen, who entered on or before the 6th of February last in consequence of the first proclamation, the like bounty with those who have since entered; for continuing the rewards for discovering such seamen as shall conceal themselves; and promising a reward of 20 s. to such able-bodied landmen as have entered since the 23d of January, or shall enter before the last of this month.

We hear that hostilities will certainly commence, unless a courier, dispatched to Paris since last Sunday, returns with propositions fit to be accepted by Great-Britain.

We hear that an embargo is laid in Ireland on a very large quantity of beef that was going to be exported for the use of the French fleet.

The right hon. the earl of Northesk is appointed commander of the Orford man of war, of 70 guns, at Chatham; and the hon. James Wemys, son to the earl of Wemys, is appointed first lieutenant.

We learn from Naples, that the treaty of commerce with the crown of Great-Britain is actually concluded, and will be very speedily published.

Robert Clive, Esq; member of parliament for St. Michael's in Cornwall, is appointed by the court of directors of the East India company, governor of Fort St. David's in the East-Indies, for which place he will soon embark.

Several people are taken up at Dover, both French and English, who were concerned in the late rebellion.

[illegible] would be difficult to raise money; and the [illegible] tion that for some time past a certain marshal (Lowendahl) has met with at court.

London, March 8. We are assured, that according to an exact list received by the government, the squadron at Brest consists of 19 ships of the line, and eight frigates; which have on board eight battalions of regular troops, and are ready to put to sea.

The Lime, of 20 guns, Capt. Faulkner, and the Dispatch sloop, having been repaired at Plymouth, sailed last Saturday to make their observations on the French coast.

Orders are received at the commissioner's office at Portsmouth, for the Trident, of 66 guns, and the Eagle of 60 guns, to be brought down the harbour and get ready to be commissioned; and several more ships are talked of. The shipwrights, &c. work till eleven o'clock each night.

London, March 11. We hear that his royal highness prince Edward has desired leave of his majesty to go to sea with lord Anson, in case of an expedition; and 'tis said his majesty has granted his request.

We have received the following account of the armament at Brest:

Le Formidable, 80 guns. L' Entreprenant, 74. Le Bizarre, 64. L' Alcide, 64. L' Illustre, 64. L'Opiniatre, 64. Le Leopard, 64. L'Apollon, 50. Le Meliste, 50. Le Fleur de Lys, 30.

L'Heros, 74. Le Defendeur, 74. La Dauphine Royale, 70. Le Lys, 64. Le G. G, 72. La Syrene, 30. L'Heroine, 30. La Comete, 30.

Le Palmier, 74. L'Actif, 64. L'Aquillon, 44. L'Esperance, 74. L'Eveille, 74. L'Inflexible, 64. L'Aigle, 50. La Diane, 36. La Fidelle, 30.

According to other advices from Paris, the troops that are to embark at Brest, amount to six thousand men: Their rendezvous is at Gennebaud, in Britanny, where they will be all assembled by the 15*th of this month.*

On thursday last the earl Powlet resigned his employment as one of the gentlemen of the bedchamber, by a letter to his majesty.

London, March 13. On Monday night there was a general council on some dispatches received from abroad.

The commissioners of the victualling, and of the [illegible]

[illegible] Some alterations in the ministry are soon expected.

This day sixty tons of iron ordnance were shipped for the Mediterranean.

London, March 15. Accounts from Scotland say, that 13 Scotsmen, officers in the French service, were a few days since taken up and committed to prison.

There are now ready, at the several ports, between 40 and 50 ships of the line, in excellent condition, both as to officers and men; which 'tis presumed will have due weight with our enemies.

The grand question—Peace or War?—depends on the return of a messenger from France, who is expected here the beginning of next week.

London, March 18. Information hath been given of 17 officers in the French service hovering on the coast of Scotland.

It is reported, that Lord Elcho is among the 13 persons lately seized in Scotland.

It is said, that 27 Scotch and English officers, in the French service, have been seized at Rye. They had all been in London, and were on their return to France.

Fifty companies of marines, of 50 men in a company, are to be raised, and to be commanded by majors and other officers on half-pay.

His excellency Charles Knowles, Esq; will be continued governor of Jamaica, notwithstanding the late rumour to the contrary.

This morning 1000 ounces of gold, and 20,000 ounces of silver coin, were shipped on board the Union, capt. Trent, bound for New England, for the payment of the forces in those parts.

This morning part of the baggage of Charles Hardy, Esq; lately appointed governor of New-York, was put on board the Dover, capt. Rickards, bound for that province.

London, March 20. The Experiment man of war, capt. Evans, sailed from Plymouth on sunday last, with orders to look into Brest, and observe the conduct of the French fleet.

We hear that orders have been dispatched to Jamaica for viewing and (if necessary) repairing the Fortresses at Kingston and Port Royal.

Fifteen sail of the line more will speedily be put in Commission.

We are well assured that the embargo laid on provisions from Ireland is to continue five months; and that this measure, being taken just in the nick of time, hath so disconcerted the French, who, it seems, had not provided against it, that their men of war, have been obliged to take the provisions out of their merchantmen, which by that means are laid up for some time. If the same prudent measures were taken in all our northern settlements, it would probably be severely felt, not only by the French ships now abroad, or going abroad to those parts of the world, but also by their colonies themselves.

The lords of the admiralty have put the Falmouth and Rochester men of war, both fifty gun ships, at Chatham, into commission, and given the command of the former to capt. William Brett, brother to sir Piercy Brett; and the other to capt. Robert Duff.

Lord Elcho, and the other persons taken up in Scotland, were apprehended, we hear, in sailors habits. The discovery is said to have been made by lord Elcho's laced waistcoat, appearing under his jacket.

A courier extraordinary from the court of France is expected here by sunday next: And 'tis generally said that a message from his majesty will be sent on tuesday to both houses of parliament, on the present posture of affairs.

London, March 22. Fresh warrants are issued by the lords of the admiralty, which bear teste to the first day of September next.

Letters from Brest advise, that a body of marine guards of the department of Toulon has actually reached that port.

They write from Stade, in the dutchy of Bremen, that a proclamation has been published there, inviting all seamen to engage for the royal navy of England; with promise that they shall not be sent to the American colonies, but discharged and sent home at the expiration of the term for which they shall engage.

It is confirmed, that an embargo is laid in [illegible] on all provisions.

[illegible] court will cause reasonable propositions [illegible] to have [illegible] war, to take the [illegible] pend on the friendship and alliance of [illegible] roman emperor; but if a diversion from that quarter, against the house of Austria or Russia, can be depended on, no good is to be expected from negociating with the French ministry about differences in the East and West-Indies.

Yesterday vessels were taken up to carry naval stores and provisions to the garisons at Gibraltar and Portmahon.

Yesterday the Polly, Capt. Rocket, bound for Nova-Scotia with recruits, ammunition, &c. sailed from Gravesend.

London, March 25. We hear that the terms of the negociation with France are, that the French king formally renounce all claim to the peninsula of Nova-Scotia, refer the setling frontiers of that province, known by the same, to commissaries, demolish his forts at Cown-Point, Niagara, and on Bœuf-River, and give hostages for the performance of the last mentioned article. To all which France, it is said, has already submitted, except the delivery of hostages.

His majesty, it is thought, will set out for his German dominions about the 20th of next month.

The India ships which lye at Gravesend are laden with ammunition and stores, and have one hundred soldiers and fifty matrosses on board each ship.

Great rejoicings were made at Dublin upon receiving the news of the marquis of Hartington's being named for the lord lieutenant of Ireland, that nobleman being the only chief governor since the late duke of Ormond, who hath had any hundred years in that Kingdom.

We hear that orders are given for the Royal Yatchts to be got ready by the 15th of next month.

Stores, stores, and ammunition, were shipped this morning on board the Elizabeth, Capt. Martin, bound for Nova Scotia.

London, March 27. Yesterday his grace the duke of Dorset kiss'd his majesty's hand at St. James's on his being appointed master of the horse to his majesty, in the room of the marquis of Hartington, now lord lieutenant of Ireland.

The same day the right hon. the house of peers waited on his majesty at St. James's with their address.

As did likewise the right hon. Arthur Onslow, Esq; speaker of the house of commons, and that hon. house, with their address, on occasion of the message sent by his majesty to both houses on [illegible]

The

The following is his majesty's most gracious answer to the address of the right honourable house of peers.

'My Lords,

'I thank you for this affectionate address. Nothing shall be wanting on my part, that may tend 'to the effectual support of the just rights and pos'sessions of my crown, and of the true interests of 'my people. The confidence, which you repose in me, 'shall always be made use of with the strictest regard 'to those great and important objects.'

CHARLES-TOWN: Printed by PETER TIMOTHY, at the new Printing-Office, in Tradd-street.

O Tempora! O Mores!

EVERY Freeholder is interested in the Life, Health, and Preservation of his Neighbour: A robust and healthy Man is more capable to defend his own Property and Liberty, as well as that of other People, than a sickly and weak Person: Hence this Conclusion may be drawn, That those, who promote the Health and Strength of Men, with a sollicitous Care, deserve the Thanks and Esteem of the People; and they ought to have a proper Reward for their Skill, Industry, and Pains. But if any Society, Junto, or Association of Men, for their private Ends only, combine together, such an Agreement ought to be look'd upon as an Action unworthy of an honest, just, or charitable Man.

That the late Meeting of the FACULTY of PHYSIC at Mr. Gordon's, (from the Words of their Advertisement) was a Meeting for no other End than to increase their PROFITS, which they call their HUMANE ART, to me seems indisputable.

Many Instances might be given, to prove, that the Practice of the Gentlemen of the Faculty proceeds from a Principle of Gain, but I shall give only one; let it be remembered, that before the late War their Bills were thought pretty reasonable; that when the War broke out they raised their Prices, as the Merchants did, to near double what they formerly were; and that they never lowered them afterwards, tho' all the Merchants did so. And tho' they have told us, that Health is the greatest of all Temporal Blessings, this HUMANE Society have unanimously RESOLVED, after the 10th Day of June, not to be aiding or assisting, to restore any Person to so great a Blessing, unless he first gilds them with a new Fee, the Reasonableness of which they are to be Judges of.

Whether an Apothecary or Chirurgeon can be called a graduate Physician, or a graduate Physician is of Course an Apothecary and Chirurgeon, I wo'n't pretend to say.

I shall only observe, that it has often been a Question, whether Lawyers or Physicians did the greatest Mischief to Men; one impairs their Estates, the other their Health and Life. And that I have somewhere read of a Man who fancied himself sick, and sent for his Physician, who asking the Patient, if he eat well? he answer'd Yes: Do you drink well? Yes: Do you sleep well? He still answered Yes. Very well, say'd the Doctor, I'll send you something to remove these Disorders. —— The following Lines of a celebrated Poet and Physician, may not be an improper Conclusion,

Charles Town and all her passing bells can tell,
What mighty Numbers by the Faculty have fell:
With Pen & Ink in Hand, they've pass'd to that Degree,
They scarce have left a Wretch to give a Fee.
Some fell by Laudanum, and some by Steel:
But Death in Ambush lay in every Pill.
For save or kill, this Privilege they claim,
Tho' Merit suffers, the Reward's the same.

The FREEHOLDER.

LONDON, March 27.

ORDERS have been sent for the several men of war fitting out to repair to Spithead with all possible expedition.

We are assured, that every builder in the river of Thames will speedily have an order from the lords of the admiralty, to build a twenty-gun ship.

Two gentlemen at Hull have a wager depending with regard to peace or war, on the following terms, viz. one gave the other forty guineas in hand, and he in return is to pay him three shillings a day till war is proclaimed. Several wagers of the like nature are laid at Newcastle.

Yesterday the Prince and several other men of war sailed from Chatham, well mann'd, in order to rendezvous at Spithead.

Yesterday 10,000 lb. of gunpowder was shipp'd for Barbadoes, and 2,600 lb. for New-England.

The Fair American, Capt. Ogle, is arrived at Dover from Charles Town, South Carolina, after a hard passage and exceeding bad weather. She left Charles Town the 31st of January, and had as fine a run as could be desired till she came into lat. 44. 58 N. where she met with a most severe gale of wind and terrible high seas, which broke in upon her, split and carried away her mainsail, and did other considerable damage. The wind was N. E. and continued so seven days.

London, March 29. On wednesday night six expresses were dispatched to different courts of Europe.

On thursday the colonels, lieutenant-colonels, and majors, were appointed by his majesty for the marines to be raised.

And yesterday the captains to the said forces were also appointed: They are all to be under the direction of the lords of the admiralty.

They write from Plymouth, that on the 25th inst. arrived there from Rochelle, the Trimmer, Capt. Bellamy, who brings advice that the French have fifteen men of war and twenty frigates at Brest; five men of war at Toulon, four of them 74 gun ships, and two frigates lying at anchor near the isle of Dieu; and it is reported that they have 30,000 men ready to embark on the island of St. Martin.

From Paris they write, that a frigate is sailed from the Port of Brest on a private commission; and that the appearance of such a fellow there gives public fears that the India company's affairs are taken to a bad pass.

According to the list of ships of war fitted out in the ports of France, there are

At Brest, 1 of 80 guns, 4 of 74, 3 of 70, 6 of 64, 1 of 60, 1 of 50, 2 of 46, 4 of 30, and 1 of 24.

At Toulon, 1 of 80, 5 of 74, 3 of 64, 2 of 32, and 1 of 24 guns.

At Rochfort, 1 of 80, 1 of 74, 3 64, 1 of 50, and 1 of 32 guns.

In all 41 sail, 2428 guns, and 22750 men.

London, April 1. Letters from Plymouth mention the great expedition they are making in getting the ships ready, by working till nine at night; and Admiral Mostyn is along side the ships as soon as day breaks.

Several traders are going to Hamburgh to raise men for his majesty's service.

Admiral Boscawen is ordered to sail to the Bay of Biscay with twelve sail of the line; and more are immediately to follow, to sail to the westward.

We are now informed his majesty will set out to visit his German dominions on Saturday the 19th instant.

The Milliscent, Capt. Scrogham, who arrived last week in the River from South-Carolina, met three sixty-gun ships the 13th instant, and, being very leaky, made signals of distress but they took no notice thereof. From the course they steered, Capt. Scrogham judged them to be bound to America: And as they had no colours out, nor any men appeared on deck, one may conclude they are French men of war, that have slipt away from Brest before the rest of the fleet.

According to our accounts from France by this day's mail, most of the ships which compose the Brest fleet were got into the road, but Mr. de Macnamara, who was to command them, was taken sick at Nantz. These letters assert that the naval forces of that kingdom consist of seventy ships of the line and 30 frigates.

By many letters received by yesterday's French mail we find a general dissatisfaction prevails amongst the merchants in the sea-port towns of France, on account of the measures pursued by the court.

We hear from Holland, that the Dutch have received a remittance of three millions of guilders from their settlements in India, raised by a tax of the fifteenth penny; which the states have unanimously resolved to apply towards refitting their navy.

They write from Paris, of the 28th ult. that many couriers were dispatched the day before to Brittany, with orders for the troops which have been cantoned at Hennebon, Quimperlay, Quimpercorentin, Landernau, and Morlaix, to advance towards Brest with all expedition. Advice has been received, that 6 men of war are fitted from Brest, with a number of land forces on board; and 'tis supposed by some that they are destined for America. Others suppose, that they are gone to make an attempt on our defenceless Sugar Islands: The author of the miscellaneous essay on the courses pursued by Great Britain, in regard to her colonies (whose knowledge of our American affairs appears to be greatly inferior to that of most writers) says, that the French have been for some time procuring large parcels of arms and ammunition at Martinico, with a view to attack our islands in the West Indies, in case of a war breaking out.

Six men of war, from 50 to 90 guns, are to sail directly for Jamaica, under the command of commodore Stevens.
